1. Purpose of this Policy

The purpose of this Whistleblower policy (Policy) is to document Judo Capital Holdings Limited's and Judo Bank Pty Ltd 's (together, Judo) commitment to maintaining an open working environment of honesty and integrity, and the requirement for Judo's people to observe high standards of business and personal ethics in the conduct of their duties and responsibilities.

Judo encourages its employees to speak up about improper conduct, and commits to ensuring that our people can do so without fear of intimidation, disadvantage or reprisal. This is to allow us to detect and address wrongdoing as soon as possible.

The Policy outlines:

- how 'Eligible Whistleblowers' can disclose improper conduct confidentially, anonymously and on reasonable grounds without the fear of reprisal or detrimental action;
- the rights of Eligible Whistleblowers who make disclosures under the Whistleblower protection provisions provided in the Corporations Act 2001 (Cth) and the Taxation Administration Act 1953 (Cth) (Whistleblower Laws)
- legal protections Eligible Whistleblowers are entitled to if they report a 'Disclosable Matter' to an 'Eligible Recipient', the Australian Securities and Investments Commission (ASIC), Australian Prudential Regulation Authority (APRA), or the Australian Tax Office (ATO).

The Policy defines the meaning of some of those terms below.

The Policy will be made available to all employees and officers upon commencement with Judo during the induction process and will be available on the Judo Intranet and Judo's website.

1.1 Policy Coverage

The Policy applies to all of Judo's people, who include but may not be limited to:

- Judo's officers and employees (former and current);
- Judo's suppliers and contractors (former and current);
- Eligible Whistleblowers or Eligible Recipients as defined under the Policy and the Whistleblower Laws.

1.2 Policy Maintenance

- a) Administration of this Policy

The General Counsel and Company Secretary is responsible for the application and administration of this Policy.

- b) Amendments to this Policy

Following initial approval of this Policy by the Board, further amendments, subsequent revisions, and minor updates to this Policy is delegated to the Board Risk Committee for approval.

1.3 Ancillary Policies

This Policy is to be read in conjunction with Judo's:

- a) Fit and Proper Policy;
- b) Privacy Policy;
- c) Compliance Framework;
- d) Risk Management Strategy; and
- e) Code of Conduct.

2. Policy operation

2.1 Who may make a disclosure?

Under the Whistleblower Laws, an Eligible Whistleblower includes an individual who is, or has been:

- an officer or employee of Judo, including directors, interns, secondees, managers (permanent, part-time, fixed term, or temporary basis);
- a supplier of services or goods to, or a party that contracts with, Judo (whether paid or unpaid) including employees of a supplier or contractor (e.g. current and former contractors, consultants, service providers and business partners such as aggregators, brokers or referrers);
- an associate of Judo; or
- a relative, dependant or spouse of any of the above individuals.

A disclosure made by an Eligible Whistleblower will be protected in the manner described in this Policy where:

- they have disclosed a 'Disclosable Matter' directly to an 'Eligible Recipient' or to ASIC, APRA or another Commonwealth body prescribed by regulations;
- they have made a disclosure to a legal practitioner for the purposes of obtaining legal advice or legal representation about the operation of the whistleblower provisions; or
- they have made a disclosure to a journalist or member of Parliament and the disclosure meets the criteria for an 'Emergency Disclosure' or 'Public Interest Disclosure' under the Whistleblower Laws, as summarised in Section 2.6 below.

Judo also commits to treating disclosures made by any other external party where it relates to an individual covered in the Fit and Proper Policy in the same manner as a disclosure by an Eligible Whistleblower, in terms of confidentiality and protection from detriment

2.2 What is a Disclosable Matter?

A 'Disclosable Matter' is a disclosure of information by an Eligible Whistleblower where the Eligible Whistleblower has reasonable grounds (in practice, something more than a mere allegation with no supporting information) to suspect that the information:

- concerns misconduct, or an improper state of affairs or circumstances, in relation to Judo or a related body corporate of Judo;
- concerns misconduct, or an improper state of affairs or circumstances, in relation to the tax affairs of Judo or an associate of Judo; or
- indicates that an officer or employee of Judo or a related body corporate, has engaged in conduct that:
 - constitutes an offence against, or a contravention of, a provision of the Corporations Act, Australian Securities and Investments Commission Act 2001 (Cth), National Consumer Credit Protection Act 2009 (Cth), Banking Act 1959 (Cth); Financial Sector (Collection of Data) Act 2001 (Cth), Insurance Act 1973 (Cth) or Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Act 1993 (Cth), or an instrument made under these Acts;
 - constitutes an offence against any other law of the Commonwealth that is punishable by imprisonment for a period of 12 months or more; or
 - represents a danger to the public or the financial system.

Misconduct or an 'improper state of affairs or circumstances' can, but does not necessarily need to, involve unlawful conduct. It may include systemic issues or information that indicates a significant risk to public safety or the stability of, or confidence in, the financial system. It may also include information that relates to business behaviour and practices that may cause consumer harm.

For example, Disclosable Matters include:

- a breach of Judo's Code of Conduct including illegal, unethical or improper conduct;
- contravention or suspected contravention of legal or regulatory provisions;
- financial malpractice, impropriety or fraud, or repeated breaches of administrative procedures;
- auditing non-disclosure or manipulation of any audit processes;

- information that indicates a significant risk to public safety or the stability of, or confidence in, the financial system even if it does not involve a breach of a particular law; and
- any deliberate concealment relating to the above.

An Eligible Whistleblower who makes a disclosure may still qualify for protection even if the disclosure turns out to be incorrect.

2.3 What is a Personal Work-Related Grievance?

A disclosure will not qualify for protection if the information disclosed solely concerns a 'Personal Work-Related Grievance' of the Eligible Whistleblower and does not relate to detriment or threat of detriment to the Eligible Whistleblower.

A Personal Work-Related Grievance is a grievance about any matter in relation to the Eligible Whistleblower's employment, or former employment, having (or tending to have) implications for the Eligible Whistleblower personally, but which does not:

- have any other significant implications for Judo;
- relate to any conduct or alleged conduct, referred to within the definition of a 'Disclosable Matter' in Section 2.2 above.

Examples of Personal Work-Related Grievances include:

- interpersonal conflict between the Eligible Whistleblower and another employee;
- decisions relating to the engagement, transfer or promotion of the Eligible Whistleblower; and
- decisions to suspend or terminate the engagement of the Eligible Whistleblower, or otherwise to discipline the Eligible Whistleblower.

Grievances of this type should be referred to the GM People.

A Personal Work-Related Grievance may still qualify for protection under the Whistleblower Laws if:

- it includes information about other misconduct, or if the information about misconduct includes or is accompanied by a Personal Work-Related Grievance (mixed report);
- Judo has breached employment or other laws punishable by imprisonment for a period of 12 months or more, engaged in conduct that represents a danger to the public, or the disclosure relates to information that suggests misconduct beyond the Eligible Whistleblower's personal circumstances;
- the Eligible Whistleblower suffers from or is threatened with detriment for making a disclosure; or
- the Eligible Whistleblower seeks legal advice or legal representation about the operation of the Whistleblower protections under the Corporations Act.

2.4 Who can disclosures be made to under this Policy?

Disclosures of information that may amount to a Disclosable Matter can be made to an 'Eligible Recipient'.

Eligible Recipients include:

- an entity authorised by Judo to receive disclosures (such as an external whistleblower platform - see Section 2.5 below);
- an appointed Whistleblower Protection Officer;
- any officer or senior manager of Judo or a related body corporate, being any member of the Management Board;
- an internal or external auditor, or an actuary of Judo or a related body corporate; or
- a legal practitioner.

NOTE: Disclosures of information to a legal practitioner for the purposes of obtaining legal advice or legal representation in relation to the operation of the whistleblower provisions in the Corporations Act are protected (even in the event that the legal practitioner concludes that the disclosure of information does not relate to a Disclosable Matter).

Disclosures of information may also be made to ASIC, APRA, or the ATO.

Judo recommends that Eligible Whistleblowers who wish to make a disclosure but want to obtain additional information prior to doing so contact the Whistleblower Protection Officer in the first instance.

2.5 How can disclosures be made under this Policy?

An Eligible Whistleblower may make a disclosure directly to any of the above Eligible Recipients. Judo has engaged an authorised external whistleblower platform as its preferred means of handling such disclosures of information.

Persons are therefore encouraged to make a disclosure of information by contacting this external whistleblower platform, STOPline (Independent Whistleblower Service) at the following details:

Telephone: 1300 30 45 50

Email: judobank@stoline.com.au

Website: <https://judobank.stoplinereport.com>

App: Disclosures can be made via the free STOPline App. To download, search for STOPline in the iTunes App Store or Google Play.

Alternatively, Judo's designated Whistleblower Protection Officer is:

Name: Yien Hong

Email: yien.hong@judo.bank

Disclosures of information can be made anonymously, and all disclosures of information will be treated confidentially. There is no requirement for an Eligible Whistleblower to identify themselves to make a protected disclosure.

An Eligible Whistleblower can choose to continue to remain anonymous over the course of the investigation and after any investigation is finalised. An Eligible Whistleblower may refuse to answer questions that they feel could reveal their identity at any time, including during follow-up conversations.

Where a disclosure is made via the Independent Whistleblower Service or to an officer or senior manager referred to in section 2.4, the details of the disclosure will be provided to the appointed Whistleblower Protection Officer. If, however, the Eligible Whistleblower has requested anonymity, then neither their identity, nor any information that is likely to lead to their identification, will be provided to the Whistleblower Protection Officer without the Eligible Whistleblower's consent.

2.6 What is a Public Interest Disclosure or an Emergency Disclosure?

An Eligible Whistleblower can make a protected disclosure of information to a member of Parliament or journalist if it meets the 'Public Interest Disclosure' or 'Emergency Disclosure' criteria, as summarised below.

Public Interest Disclosure	Emergency Disclosure
Eligible Whistleblower has already disclosed a Disclosable Matter to ASIC, APRA, or another prescribed Commonwealth body	Eligible Whistleblower has already disclosed a Disclosable Matter to ASIC, APRA, or another prescribed Commonwealth body
At least 90 days have passed since the Disclosable Matter was disclosed to one of the regulatory bodies listed above	Eligible Whistleblower has reasonable grounds to believe that the information concerns a substantial and imminent danger to the health or safety of one or more persons or to the natural environment
Eligible Whistleblower does not have reasonable grounds to believe that action is being, or has been, taken to address the matters to which the previous disclosure related	Before making the Emergency Disclosure, the Eligible Whistleblower has given a written notification to the regulatory body to whom the previous disclosure was made that includes

	sufficient information to identify the previous disclosure and states that the Eligible Whistleblower intends to make an emergency disclosure
Eligible Whistleblower has reasonable grounds to believe that making a further disclosure of the information would be in the public interest	The disclosure is made to a member of Federal or a State Parliament or a journalist
Before making the 'Public Interest Disclosure', the Eligible Whistleblower has given written notification, to the regulatory body to whom the previous disclosure was made, that they intend to make a public interest disclosure	The extent of the information disclosed in the emergency disclosure is no greater than is necessary to inform the journalist or member of Parliament of the substantial and imminent danger
The disclosure is made to a member of Federal or a State Parliament or a journalist
The extent of the information disclosed in the public interest disclosure is no greater than is necessary to inform the journalist or member of Parliament of the misconduct, improper state of affairs or other conduct

Judo encourages an Eligible Whistleblower to obtain independent legal advice before making a Public Interest Disclosure or an Emergency Disclosure.

3. What legal protections are available?

Where an Eligible Whistleblower makes a disclosure of a Disclosable Matter, Judo will act to protect them from any victimisation, adverse reaction or intimidation and ensure they will not be disadvantaged in their employment or engagement with Judo as a result.

3.1 Identity protection (Confidentiality)

An Eligible Whistleblower is entitled to have their identity protected.

It is a criminal offence for an Eligible Recipient who receives a Disclosable Matter to disclose the identity of the Eligible Whistleblower or information that is likely to lead to the identification of the Eligible Whistleblower unless an exception applies, or it is for the purposes of an investigation (see below).

A person may disclose the identity of an Eligible Whistleblower or information that is likely to lead to the identification of the Eligible Whistleblower in the following circumstances:

- to ASIC, APRA or a member of the Australian Federal Police;
- to a Commonwealth authority, or a State or Territory authority, for the purpose of assisting the authority in the performance of its functions or duties;
- to a legal practitioner for the purpose of obtaining legal advice or legal representation in relation to the operation of the Whistleblower Laws; or
- with the consent of the Eligible Whistleblower.

Judo will endeavour to protect the confidentiality of an Eligible Whistleblower's identity by adopting the following measures:

- encouraging all disclosures of information to be submitted through Judo's Independent Whistleblower Service;
- all personal information or reference to the Eligible Whistleblower witnessing an event will be redacted;
- where possible, the Eligible Whistleblower will be contacted to help identify certain aspects of their disclosure that could inadvertently identify them;
- disclosures will be handled and investigated by qualified Judo staff or external advisers;
- all paper and electronic documents and other materials relating to disclosures will be stored securely;

- access to all information relating to a disclosure will be limited to those directly involved in managing and investigating the disclosure;
- subject to the Eligible Whistleblower's consent, only a restricted number of people who are directly involved in handling and investigating a disclosure will be made aware of a discloser's identity or information that is likely to lead to the identification of the discloser;
- communications and documents relating to the investigation of a disclosure will not to be sent to an email address or to a printer that can be accessed by other staff; and
- each person who is involved in handling and investigating a disclosure will be reminded about the confidentiality requirements, including that an unauthorised disclosure of a discloser's identity may be a criminal offence.

If an Eligible Whistleblower is concerned about a breach of confidentiality, they should lodge a complaint with Judo by contacting the Whistleblower Protection Officer.

Eligible Whistleblowers may also lodge a complaint with a regulator such as ASIC, APRA or the ATO, for external investigation at any time.

3.2 Protection from detrimental acts or omissions

The Whistleblower Laws make it a criminal offence for an individual to threaten an Eligible Whistleblower or cause an Eligible Whistleblower to suffer detriment. An individual who does so may be required to pay a criminal or civil penalty and/or compensation to the Eligible Whistleblower.

This protection also exists where a Disclosable Matter has not actually been disclosed by the Eligible Whistleblower, but the victimiser suspects that a Disclosable Matter may be raised and threatens to cause detriment. A threat may be express or implied, conditional or unconditional and the person who has been threatened does not have to actually fear that the threat will be carried out.

The below table provides examples of conduct that may be considered detrimental and what is considered not detrimental.

Detrimental conduct	Not detrimental conduct
Dismissal of an employee	Administrative action that is reasonable for the purpose of protecting an Eligible Whistleblower from detriment
Injury of an employee in their employment	Managing an Eligible Whistleblower's unsatisfactory work performance, if the action is in line with Judo's performance management framework
Alteration of an employee's position or duties to their disadvantage
Discrimination between an employee and other employees of the same employer
Harassment or intimidation of a person
Harm or injury to a person, including psychological harm
Damage to a person's property, reputation, business or financial position

Under the Whistleblower Laws, Judo has a responsibility to protect Eligible Whistleblowers from detriment. Judo will adopt the following measures to protect Eligible Whistleblowers from detriment by:

- encouraging all disclosures of information to be submitted through Judo's Independent Whistleblower Service;
- implementing processes for assessing and managing the risk of detriment against an Eligible Whistleblower;
- offering support services (including counselling or other professional or legal services);
- implementing strategies to help an Eligible Whistleblower minimise and manage stress, time or performance impacts, or other challenges resulting from the disclosure or its investigation;
- ensuring that management are aware of their responsibilities under the Policy;

- implementing procedures on how an Eligible Whistleblower can lodge a complaint if they have suffered detriment, and the actions Judo may take in response to such complaints; and
- providing interventions for protecting an Eligible Whistleblower if detriment has already occurred.

Where an Eligible Whistleblower is subject to, or concerned about, any victimisation they should draw this to the attention of the Whistleblower Protection Officer or the Independent Whistleblower Service who will take the action they deem appropriate in the circumstances.

Judo also encourages an Eligible Whistleblower who believes they have suffered detriment to seek independent legal advice and/or contact a regulatory body such as ASIC, APRA or the ATO.

3.3 Compensation and other remedies

An Eligible Whistleblower (or any other employee or person) can seek compensation and other remedies through the courts if:

- they suffer loss, damage or injury because of a disclosure of information; and
- Judo failed to take reasonable precautions and exercise due diligence to prevent the detrimental conduct.

Judo encourages all Eligible Whistleblowers to seek independent legal advice in relation to compensation and other remedies.

3.4 Civil, criminal and administrative liability protection

An Eligible Whistleblower is protected from any of the following in relation to their disclosure of information:

- civil liability (eg. any legal action against the Eligible Whistleblower for breach of an employment contract, duty of confidentiality, or another contractual obligation);
- criminal liability (eg. attempted prosecution of the discloser for unlawfully releasing information, or other use of the disclosure against the Eligible Whistleblower in a prosecution (other than for making a false disclosure)); and
- administrative liability (eg. disciplinary action for making the disclosure).

However, the above protections do not provide immunity if the Eligible Whistleblower has themselves engaged in any misconduct.

4. How will disclosures be investigated by Judo?

4.1 Handling and investigating a disclosure of information

Where a disclosure of information is made to an Eligible Recipient within Judo, for example, a senior manager, officer or to the Whistleblower Protection Officer, Judo will consider the disclosure as soon as possible.

The Whistleblower Protection Officer is responsible for determining whether a disclosure of information qualifies for protection under the Whistleblower Laws and this Policy, and if so, the management of an investigation into the disclosure, and may consider:

- the nature, timeframe and scope required for the investigation;
- the person(s) within and/or outside Judo that should lead the investigation; and
- the nature of any technical, financial or legal advice that may be required to support the investigation.

An investigation of a disclosure of information will be conducted:

- in a timely and efficient manner, noting that the length of time of any such investigation will take may vary depending on the nature of the disclosure of information; and
- in a thorough, objective and impartial manner, recognising the principles of natural justice and best practice investigative techniques.

The investigation of a disclosure will be conducted in a confidential manner unless the Eligible Whistleblower provides their consent. However, information contained in the Eligible Whistleblower's disclosure can be shared without their consent if:

- the information does not include the Eligible Whistleblower's identity;
- reasonable steps have been taken to remove information relating to the Eligible Whistleblower or other information that is likely to lead to the identification of the Eligible Whistleblower; and
- it is reasonably necessary for investigating the issues raised in the disclosure of information.

NOTE: Where an investigator is unable to make contact with the Eligible Whistleblower (eg. if a disclosure of information is made anonymously and the Eligible Whistleblower has refused to provide, or has not provided, a means of contacting them), an investigation may not be able to proceed or proceed to conclusion.

Where possible, Eligible Whistleblowers will be provided with regular updates during the various stages of the investigation. Where a disclosure has been made anonymously, updates will be made through anonymous channels.

4.2 Outcome of investigation and reporting

Following the conclusion of any investigation, the person(s) handling the investigation will prepare a report of the findings.

The method for documenting and reporting the findings will depend on the nature of the disclosure, however Judo intends that any report provide details of:

- a summary of the facts of the suspected reportable conduct and of the investigation;
- whether any accusation made is substantiated or unsubstantiated;
- any referral to external authorities;
- other disciplinary actions that may be required; and
- if warranted, suggested actions to recover stolen funds or property, and internal control implications.

Where the final report indicates that malpractice or misconduct has occurred, the final report will include:

- recommendations for steps to be taken to prevent the malpractice or misconduct from occurring in the future;
- any action that should be taken to remedy any harm or loss arising from the malpractice or misconduct, including disciplinary proceedings against the person responsible for the conduct; and
- the referral of the matter to appropriate authorities, as is deemed necessary.

The final report will be made available to the CEO for action, or if the CEO is implicated in the report, the report will be made available to the Chairman of the Board.

Judo may provide the Eligible Whistleblower with a summary of the outcome of the investigation, depending on the circumstances.

4.3 Fair treatment of individuals mentioned in a disclosure

Judo will ensure the fair treatment of its employees and other persons who are mentioned in a disclosure that qualify for protection, including those who are the subject of a disclosure.

Judo will ensure the fair treatment of its employees and other persons by ensuring:

- disclosures are handled confidentially, when it is practical and appropriate in the circumstances;
- each disclosure is assessed and will be considered for investigation;
- the objective of an investigation is to determine whether there is enough evidence to substantiate or refute the matters reported;
- when an investigation needs to be undertaken, the process will be objective, fair and independent;
- an employee who is the subject of a disclosure will be advised about the subject matter of the disclosure as and when required by principles of natural justice and procedural fairness and prior to any actions being taken—for example, if the disclosure will be the subject of an investigation; and
- an employee who is the subject of a disclosure may contact Judo's support services (eg. EAP).

5. Key roles and responsibilities under this Policy

5.1 Whistleblower Protection Officer

The Whistleblower Protection Officer's responsibilities include to:

- receive disclosures from Eligible Whistleblowers, manage the Independent Whistleblower Service and acknowledge receipt with the complainant (if possible), and acknowledge receipt of complaints regarding compliance with this Policy;
- appropriately investigate all disclosures in accordance with the Policy and the Whistleblower Laws;
- ensure that Judo and its officers and employees take reasonable steps to comply with their obligations under the Whistleblower Laws;
- ensure the principles of natural justice are applied to the respondent(s) of any disclosure and investigation;
- ensure they comply with their obligations in relation to confidentiality of an Eligible Whistleblower's identity (as outlined in 'What legal protections are available' section above);
- determine appropriate investigation processes and oversee the conduct of an investigation;
- provide a report of any investigation conducted under this Policy to the Board Risk Committee or as directed by the Chairman;
- provide quarterly consolidated reports relating to disclosures to the Board Risk Committee, ensuring that confidentiality obligations under the Whistleblower Laws are complied with; and
- ensure that all officers and employees receive training on the operation of this Policy and the Whistleblower Laws.

5.2 All officers and employees

All officers and employees must not:

- make a disclosure under this Policy that they know or suspect to be untrue; or
- victimise or cause a person to suffer detriment where a person makes or proposes to make a disclosure under this Policy.

5.3 Officers and senior managers

Officers, managers and senior management must:

- ensure the appropriate consideration and confidentiality is applied to all disclosures under this Policy;
- promptly advise the Whistleblower Protection Officer of any disclosure. If they receive a disclosure about a Disclosable Matter, ensure that they comply with their obligations in relation to confidentiality of an Eligible Whistleblower's identity (as outlined Section 3 above); and
- not victimise or cause a person to suffer detriment where a person makes or proposes to make a disclosure under this Policy.

5.4 Board Risk Committee

The Board Risk Committee is responsible for:

- receiving any notification and reports of disclosures as designated under this Policy;
- determining an appropriate response to the outcome of any investigation including issues involving accounting and auditing matters;
- taking appropriate corrective action when applicable;
- preparing a consolidated report for the Board on an annual basis on all disclosures reported to the Board Risk Committee, showing outcomes and actions, ensuring that confidentiality obligations under the Whistleblower Laws are complied with;
- approving any amendments to this Policy; and
- complying with its obligations in relation to the confidentiality of an Eligible Whistleblower's identity.

6. Training

All employees must complete whistleblower training at induction and periodic refresher training as determined by Compliance and the GM People.
